Lin loves to dance! She grew up in a ballroom dancing household and has enjoyed English country dancing, contra, ballroom and square dancing before taking up Scottish country dancing. She went to her first Scottish dance class in Miami in the 1970s. Shortly after that she and her husband moved to California and since then much of her dancing has been with the San Francisco branch. She obtained her full certificate in 1997, teaches the Mountain View class, has taught workshops on the west coast and has danced with the Red Thistle Dancers for many years. Lin enjoys everything about Scottish country dancing – performance dancing, teaching dance, the music, meeting new people from all over the world and the sheer fun of it all! She is looking forward to teaching at the Sacramento workshop!
